During the day the paragraphs cov ring marble and stone, china, glass brick and tiles were completed, with a few minor exceptions. Messrs. Vest and Jones of Arkansas, in behalf of the minority of the Finance Committee, proposed numerous amendments, which were defeated by majorities of 8 to 14. The votes were on party lines in the main, although Messrs. Rawlins and White (Dems.) voted with the Repub licans to increase the rate on onyx and Mr. McEnery (Dem.) voted with the Republicans against Mr. Jones's proposition for a reduction of the rates on china.

As a sequel to the recent sensational speech of Mr. Tillman, Mr. Smith of New Jersey rose to a question of personal privilege, while the tariff debate was proceeding, and made a brief, but pointed denial of all speculation in su-gar stock, either recently or any time when sugar was the subject of legislation. Mr. Tillman was among those who heard the denial, but he made no omment on it. Senator McLaurin of outh Carolina, was sworn in early in day, raising the membership of he Senate to 89.

There was a lively session of the House today, at which the policy of Speaker Reed and the Republican majority was again made the subject of attack by members of the minority.

Mr. Richardson of Tennessee (Dem.)

and Mr. Simpson (Pop.) of Kansas, led the onslaught of the minority. The majority position was ably defended by Mr. Henderson of Iowa and Mr. Groswenor of Ohlo, Republicans.

The appeal of Mr. Lewis (Dem.) of Washington, taken last Thursday from the decision of the chair, that a reso-lution relating to foreign affairs did not constitute a question of privilege, was laid upon the table, and after the skirmish over the methods of proced-ure, three special orders were success-fully adopted, by two of which the Senate bills making a special appropriation for the Government Printing Office and for granting the Secretary of the Navy authority to contract with any two yessels to carry supplies to

The other provided for the consideration of the Frye bill to prevent collisions upon harbors, rivers and inland waters of the United States, connected with the ocean, but Mr. Payne, in charge of the latter bill, was forced to abandon, it for the day to avoid the paint of no quorum.

The conference report of the Sundry Civil Bill was adopted. The compromise relative to the revocation of President Cleveland's forest-reservation proclamation excited some comment. Mr. Loud (Rep.) of California objected to one feature of the compromise, but

Mr. White's amendment was defeated, and the paragraph was agreed to as reported.

At this point, 2:30 o'clock, Senator Smith of New Jersey, rose to a question of personal privilege, and a brief personal statement in reply to the newspaper charges repeated by Senator Tillman in the Senate that he had speculated in sugar stock. Mr. Tillman sat at his desk while the statement was being made, but made no move toward replying. The consideration of Tariff Bill was quickly resumed.

The remaining paragraphs relating to glass were agreed to except the paragraph covering stained or painted glass windows, which went over at the request of Mr. Allison. When the marble and stone schedule was taken up. Mr. Vest made a contest on the paragraph relating to the manufacture of agate, etc., moving a reduction of the rate from 50 to 20 per cent. The amendment was defeated—yeas 17, nays 29.

The committee proposed a change in the amendment relating to marble and onyx, leaving the marble rate as reported, and placing onyx in block at $1.50 per cubic foot. Mr. Vest remarked that this was a raise of 300 per cent. over the present rate, to which Mr. Aldrich assented. Mr. Caffery spoke against such heavy increases, warning Mr. Aldrich that he was "digging the grave" of protection.

Mr. Aldrich answered that the proposed rates were required in order to give the American producers of onyx adequate protection against Mexican onyx. Mr. White supported the committee on this amendment, showing a difference with his Democratic associates on the Finance Committee in this respect.

Mr. Perkins of California spoke of the growing onyx industry in his State.

In referring further to the rates on onyx, Mr. White said they would be less than those given by the present sugar schedule, which, he added incidentally, he understood would never be voted on. The committee amendment placing onyx at $1.50 per cubic foot was then agreed to by yeas 31. nays 17. Messrs. White and Rawlins voted with the Republicans in the affirmative. The committee amendment, as a whole, relating to marble and onyx was then agreed to. A contest was made on freestone and other classes of undressed stone, Mr. Vest moving a reduction from 14 to 7 cents per cubic foot, Mr. Vest pointed out that the proposed rate was 3 per cent. greater than the McKinley rates under which the exports were less than under the Wilson rates. On dressed freestone Mr. Vest moved a reduction from 50 to 30 per cent. The amendment was disagreed to by yeas 19, nays 28. The other paragraphs relating to stone and slate were agreed to as reported. This brought the Senate up to schedule "C." relating to metals and manufactures of metals.

Mr. White suggested that, as the Senate was drawing near to the sugar schedule, any new schedule, even in an embryo form, ought to be printed at an early day, as Senators desired to make calculations on it.

CAPT. STOUCH REPORTS. WASHINGTON, June 1 .- The official report of troubles among the yenne Indians in Montana, dated y 25, reached the Indian Bureau today from Capt. Stouch, in charge of Tongue River Agency. It confirms the Washington dispatches of the As-sociated Press of yesterday which attributed the trouble to the murder of a sheep-herder and indicates that the ive of the murder was to prevent herder from giving testimony as to the illegal slaughter of beef which had witnessed. An investigation will be made immediately.

The agent reports that intense excitement exists among the settlers, and that there is a liability of further trouble. He says there are a great many bloodthirsty young men among the Indians and if the settlers and young Indians should meet, trouble would be the result. For the peace and safety of all concerned he adwould be the result. For the peace and safety of all concerned he ad-vises the stationing of two troops of cavalry in the neighborhood.

WINNIPEG (Man.,) June 1.—Fear of a repetition of the trouble of 1885 has been removed by the shooting of the remaining Indians at Bay in Biuff, near Duck Lake. The trouble was small in itself, but it was feared that if Almighty Voice, the Indian outlaw and murderer, and his companions escaped to their camps the fire would spread. The people all over the Dominion therefore feel greatly relieved.

Prince Albert from Manichisas hills ast night with the police and volunteers, bringing the bodies of Corporal thocken and Constable Kerr. A coroner's inquest was held, and Hocken and Kerr were burled with military honors today. The volunteers from here arrived at the Bluff Saturday night under command of James McKay, and took a position around the bluff. The Prince Albert gun began work about 7 o'clock the next morning and was answered by a shot and some taunting yells from Almighty Voice.

Twenty-five police from Regina, under command of Inspector MacDonnell, came up, bringing with them a nine-pounder gun and commenced to shell the bluff, keeping up a fire for about two hours, during which time the bluff was very much cut up. The Indians not returning the fire, the shelling was stopped at 11 o'clock. After a consultation among the officers a general charge was ordered, the volunteers keeping up a continuous fire as they charged. When they arrived at the rifle plits they found all the Indians had been shot. Almighty Voice was literally riddled with rifle bullets and the others were mortally wounded in several places.

Police Constable Kerr and Mr. Grundy's body, were found about twenty-five yards from the pits with shots in several places in the head and body. They were stripped of their clothing, which was found on the bodies of the Indians. After the bodies of the Indians had been identified they were burled where they fell. The remains of the murdered police were taken to Prince Albert, and those of Mr. Grundy to Duck Lake. The Indian John, Almighty Voice's father, who was caught while conveying ammunition, will be brought to Prince Albert as soon as possible.

Capt. Allen, Sergt. Raven and Napoleon Venne, who were wounded, are progressing favorably. It is thought by many that if it was not for the timely assistance of volunteers to the police, a condition similar to that of 1895 might have developed.

The detectives have spent the whole evening examining witnesses and their action strengthens the theory of murder, which is held by the dead man's friends.

The theory of murder is supported by a surgical examination of the body which showed that the fatal shot was fired into the left side of the head, the decased being a right-handed man.

Stephen Crane Under Fire. [Athens Cable to the Chicago Tribune:] At Velestino I was greatly interested to see how Stephen Crane would act in a real battle. I sought shelter in a smoke, was dropping shells among the black lines of Turkish infantry in the plain below. I sought shelter in a trench and cautiously watched the pale, thin face of the novelist as he seated himself on an ammunition box amid a shower of shells and casually lighted a cigarette. Stephen Crane did not appear surprised, but watched with a quiet expression the quick work of the artillery men as they loaded, fired, and jumped to replace the small cannon, overturned by the recoil.

I was curious to know what was passing in his mind, and said: "Crane, what impresses you most in this affair?"

The author of "The Red Badge of Courage" lighted another cigarette, pushed back his long hair out of his eyes with his hat, and answered quietly: "Between two great armies battling against each other the interesting thing is the mental attitude of the men. The Greeks I can see and understand, but the Turks seem unreal. They are shadows on the plain—vague figures in black—indications of a mysterious force."

By this time the Greek army was in full retreat.

So Yvette is to be married, tays the New York Sun. At least a Paris dispatch to the London Daily Chronicle says so. Married today, presumably, is Mile. Guilbert, and the happy man is Dr. Max Schiller. Dr. Schiller, who is well known and has traveled as manager for Duse and Bernhardt, was undestood to be in Paris merely to arrange for the American tour that Yvette is to make under his management next winter. Perhaps we shall, in time, accustom ourselves to Yvette in the demure character of a madame. Come to think of it, 'twas not long ago that her advertising agent began making such a fuss about "Yvette at home," "Yvette sewing" and Yvette in all sorts of domestic poses. Was she practicing them for this new character? The next cablegram will tell, and mean while we may wonder today if the story is true. If it really is true, then the traditional nine days will not contain our wonder and surprise.

WASHINGTON, June 1.-The international chess match between members of the House of Representatives and the English House of Commons today resulted in a draw, each side having won and lost two games and one being a draw.

When the match was concluded by Mr. Shafroth of Colorado winning his game and tieing the score, hearty cheers were given on each side of the water for the President and Her Majesty the Queen.

The games yesterday having resulted in a winning for Mr. Boyd for Amer-ica and a game to the credit of England, won by Mr. Plunkett, thre-land, won by Mr. Plunkett, thre-games remained to be finished today. The games resulted in the loss of one by Mr. Plowman and the drawing of the game between Mr. Handy and Mr. Wilson. It then remained for Mr. Shafroth to save the day for America by winning his game. He started under the necessity of making six moves in thir teen minutes, but soon caught up and had time to play studiously.

There were whispered comments that Mr. Jones was so terribly slow in his moves that he was obliged to hasten unduly his final plays; that Mr. Wilson was playing a good, steady game, and that in the end everything might turn on Mr. Parnell. But no hint of this was allowed to get to them.

Mr. Jones, as the end of the contest drew near, showed his excitement; Mr. Wilson kept himself well under control, but Mr. Parnell wore a look of concentrated anxiety, again strikingly recalling his famous brother in fateful moments.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

Dr. Thomson on Trinitarian Creeds and Hell.

LOS ANGELES, May 31. [To the Editor of The Times.] With your kind permission I shall briefly reply to Dr. Thomson's synopsis of his sermon contained in The Times this morning. contained in The Times this morning. It was John who answered Jesus and said, "Master, we saw one casting out devils in Thy name; and we forbade him, because he followeth not with us." And Jesus said unto him, "Forbid him not, for he that is not against us is for us." Here Jesus lays down a broad and deep principle of charity for our guidance in dealing with those who do not happen to be of our own special type. So long, then, as Dr. Thomson or any other doctor confines himself to doing good, to wise and intelligent criticism and exposure of error, let the words of Jesus be applied to him. "Forbid him not." But whenever he most flagrantly misrepresents the truth and holds my religious tenets and myself up to contempt and ridicule, then, out of respect for myself and regard for the truth, I am compelled to enter my unqualified protest. Says the doctor, "All the Trinitarian creeds teach. . . that the vilest murderer may go from the scaffold to heaven if he will accept some metaphysical myth such as the fall of Adam, the imputation of one man's virtues for another man's sins. . .

But any selfish person can escape the orthodox hell by a little trick It was John who answered Jesus and But any selfish person can escape the

But any selfish person can escape the orthodox hell by a little trick called imputed righteousness. So heaven may be full of whitewashed criminals and cannot be a decent place for a follower of Christ, etc."

It is next to impossible to conceive of a gentleman of Dr. Thomson's ministerial standing making such a wild statement in public. I am a Presbyterian, and what the learned doctor is pleased to dub a Trinitarian. And I here and now assert with all doctor is pleased to dub a Trinitarian.
And I here and now assert with all possible emphasis that neither I nor the great church of which I happen to be an humble servant, helieve anything approaching the rubbish imputed to us by him. What is true of the Presbyterian Church is equally true of all the great Evangelical denominations. These denominations believe precisely what Jesus says in John iii, 3. Verlly, verily
I say unto thee, except a man be born again he cannot see the Kingdom of God." Regeneration, new life, the livling, active, holy life of Jesus, leading to an intense hatred of all sin and vice to an intense hatred of all sin and vice and an ardent love to God and human ity is the essential qualification for heaven. That a vile sinner may unheaven. That a vile sinner may undergo such a change even on the gallows is evident from the tender, loving words of the dying Jesus to the dying but penitent thief. "Today shalt thou be with me in Paradise." We rejoice that the heart of our Father in heaven is so great, so tender, so full of infinite love, that it may be touched with the last dying but truly penitent cry of the world-cursed prodigal. But let no man say that anything unclean can pass through the pearly gates into the presence of the infinite and eternal source of all goodness and purity.

"Triple Births." LOS ANGELES, May 31, 1897. [To the Editor of The Times.] Some years the Editor of The Times.] Some years ago a case of triple birth was brought to the notice of Colonel Nelson of the Kansas City Star. and as the parents were poor, he gave some money for them himself, and asked others to do so. The amount of money and other gifts sent in response took nearly a column of the Star to acknowledge. In returning the Star, her private secretary stated that about one hundred cases were reported yearly to the Queen. May I ask people in Los Angeles to copy Colonel Nelson and Queen Victoria in this way, when they hahve the privilege of doing so? Faithfully yours.

In the mean time, he said, it would transact such business as might become urgent.

Mr. Grosvenor followed in a similar strain, putting the Republicans in a good humor by his witty comments on the minority leadership. The other side, Mr. Grosvenor said, was treating the majority with great unfairness.

But when the great leader from Kansas (Mr. Simpson.) suddenly flashed upon the horizon and swung the minority into a solid phalanx, I thought, perhaps, God Almighty had decided to wreck the Democratic party under his leadership. FINALLY ROUNDED UP.

Detective Goodman Jails a Quartette of Boy Burglars.

Detective Goodman yesterday ar-rested and locked up in the City Prison four promising youths, ranging in age from 13 to 16 years, who will be called upon today to answer the serious charge of burglary. The names of the prisoners are Oscar Rausch, Charles Battico, Carl Bowan and Fred Mingenburg.

This quartette of mischievous youn Americans has been a source of noyance to the police for some During La Fiesta week their peculations, late-at-night raids peculations, late-at-night raids and general "cussedness" brought forth many complaints from their victims, and caused a world of worry to their parents. Because of the fact that they have always managed to elude the officers they became emboldened and drifted naturally from malicious mischief to something worse. They took to burglary. Lately they have broken into a number of bakeries and small shops, and a short time ago marked for their own the grocery store of Charles Chenoweth at the corner of Washington and Vermont avenue. They entered the place at night and carried away a quantity of candy, sardines, canned goods, sods water, etc. This was carrying things a little too far. Complaint was made, and the detective started on their trail with the result given.

The arrest of the boys has caused something of a sensation in the neighborhood of Iowa and Bush streets, where they live.

$10,000 worth of Surplus Furnishings and Hats is the Elephant on our hands that we are trying so hard to rid ourselves of. We have reduced the prices to reduce the stock. A great many people came yesterday and bought the goods we advertised-and there wasn't a man or woman in all who came who was not perfectly satisfied that at least there was one honest sale in town. Before we get through with this thing we're going to have the whole town coming our way. Watch and see.

The matter of the bettion of E. Dwyer et al., your committee has investigated these cases and find that the lots in question are well located, that they are worth several hundred dollars each, that the city has recently been at great expense in grading the streets bordering thereon, and in laying sidewalks and sewers and putting in curbs for the improvement of said lots. We find that even the low rental of $10 per annum now-charged for the said lots would no more than pay a low rate of interest on the cost of said street improvements to say nothing of the real value of the lots themselves. We therefore recommend that the petition of E. Dwyer et al., asking that annual rental on said lots be fixed at $3 be denied."

On motion of Counciuman Toll an ordinance was passed regulating the methods of unloading oil, benzine and similar substances from tank wagons and providing for certain precautions against the spilling of oil on asphalt pavements. All oil delivery wagons or tanks shall have securely fastened under the taps or faucets an absolutely oil or water-tight zinc-lined box. In filling any measure or vessel the drip or overflow must be caught in this box and care must be taken to avoid spilling any oil on the asphalt pavement. Counciliman Nickell moved that, while the City Engineer was engaged in surveying a boulevard route through East Los Angeles, as directed last week, he should also make a survey as mapped out by the petition of the East Side Boulevard Committee. After some discussion this motion was defeated.
Councilman Toll then moved that the City Engineer be instructed not to expend more than $250 m surveying the boulevard routes under the direction of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association without further authorization of the Council. This motion was carried by a vote of 5 to 2, Councilmen Nickell and Hutchison voting in the negative. The Twenty-eighth street matter was then called up, but the protestants falling to appear the Council at once denied their appeal.

Street-Superintendent Drain took the opportunity to state that he believed that some persons made a practice of filing protests against contractors' work with the expectation of having their assessments reduced or cancelled. He proposed in the future to show any such cases of blackmailing as came to his knowledge.

"DR." HASTINGS'S TRIAL.

STATE'S EVIDENCE IN AND THE DEFENSE COMMENCES.

First Appearance at the Trial of Mrs. Ann Catherine Weaver, Who is also Charged with the Murder of Livian Hattery.

The crowded courtroom at the Hastings murder trial yesterday heard but little testimony that was of general interest, and almost no evidence of a sensational nature was introduced. Little progress was made in the trial during the morning, the delay being occasioned by the absence of the last witness for the prosecution. Al Nair, the messenger boy who carried the note from Lillian Hattery to her sister, was called to the witness stand, but the questions asked him were not of signal importance.

As the tardy witness did not make

As the tardy witness did not make his appearance, the State declared its case closed, reserving the right to call the witness referred to, and the defense opened by placing J. L. Hattery, the father of the murdered girl, on the stand. He was interrogated regarding certain letters written to him by Lille while she was visiting her sister in Los Angeles, but upon reading the letters they were found to contain nothing that had any connection with the issues in the case on trial.

Maj. Horace Bell, Attorneys H. H. Appel and L. C. Whitney were called to impeach the testimony of Mrs. Madeline Martin to the effect that one of the counsel for the defense, Henry of the counsel for the defense, Henry T. Gage, had advised her to leave town to facilitate the collection of a bill of $1200 against Dr. Hastings. Very little testimony along this line was ruled admissible by the court. What was admitted was that Mrs. Martin had called on Appel and Whitney and asked called on Appel and Whitney and asked them to take a bill against Hastings to Mr. Gage for collection, and to inci-dentally remind Mr. Gage that it would be well for the doctor to settle, as she and Mrs. Hendig had been subpoened and Mrs. Hendig had been subposed as witnesses in the murder trial.

Mr. Gage then arose and said that although he had been a member of the bar for twenty years and never taken the witness stami in a suit in which he was one of the counsel, he wanted to be sworn and make a statement as to be sworn and make a statement as to, his part in the matter. He was al-lowed to take the stand, and testified that he had never advised or suggested to any person to leave any locality to avoid giving testimony in any case in ll his life. As Mr. Gage concluded Maj. Bell arose from his seat and said that, as he was a member of the bez and an old citizen, and as his honor had been attacked, he wished to say a few words. Judge Smith called # balt at this juncture, and said he would not permit such episodes to occur in the trial of a murder case.

J. C. Coney, a Santa Fé train dis-patcher, who lives next door to the house occupied by Mrs. Martin's mother on Philadelphia street, took the stand, and testified that Mrs. Martin had lived on Philadelphia street for three years and a half and her reputa-tion, for veracity was very bad. On cross-examination Coney admitted that Mrs. Martin had had his daughter ar-rested not long ago, but could not rerested not long ago, but could not re-member hearing any one say Mrs. Mar-tin was untruthful, except Ed Garrett and a Mrs. Dwyer.

Lucien Earle was called as a char-acter witness, but could not qualify as such, as he had never heard Mrs. Marsuch, as he had never heard Mrs. Martin's general reputation for truth and veracity discussed. After Robert L. Garrett had been called as another character witness against Mrs. Martin, the defense began to introduce testimony to show that Alice Horton was not present at Hastings's office at the time she testified to seeing Lillian Hattery's miscarriage, and also to show that on that day, Monday, February I, Lillian Hattery was dressed and walking around the office.

STIR UP THE STATESMEN.

It is estimated that the government is losing from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 per week in revenue by reason of the delay in the passage of the Tariff Bill. The people are losing many times as much as is the government, through depressed business and lack of employment, for the same reason. The en-tire country is suffering not alone from the stagnation of industries which has been a concomitant of the Gorman-Wilson law from its inception, but from the uncertainties attending the present situation, to which is superadded the heavy influx of foreign goods in anticipation of the enactment of a law materially increasing duties. These unusually large importations of the past few months have aiready discounted the effects of the new tariff law, should such a law be enacted. Every day of delay adds to the unfavorable conditions and retards the return of prosperous times. Until the principle of protection has been definitely reëmbodied in our fiscal system, we cannot reasonably expect a return of prosperity.

It is becoming apparent that the members of the United States Senate do not fully appreciate the gravity of position of noise and general discom-fort at these corners has lasted long the situation and the necessity for more energetic and businesslike action in disposing of the tariff question. though considerable progress has Senate, the prospects are that when certain disputed schedules are reached there will be spirited contests, proessary delay of final action. This bught not to be. The people have spoken in emphatic terms for protection, and even those who are honestly opposed, on principle, to the protective system, should bow with good grace to the will of the majority, and assist, rather than retard, the enactment of a consistent protective tariff There should be no factious opposition to any reasonable schedules. The Pacific Coast and the Atlantic Coast, the North and the South, should be accorded such protection as their hair-splitting discriminations. If this generous and statesmanlike plan were adopted in both houses of Congress, the whole tariff question could easily be disposed of before the close of June, and the new law could go into effect with the beginning of the fiscal ity that the harbor battle may have to be fought all over again. It is none too soon for the people of Southern California to begin anew the education of our brethren it the East on this important matter. Because the question is well understood by every schoolboy in Southern California, we are apt to jump at the con-70,00,000 people, more or less, who live east of the mountains, but such is by no means the case. California is a big State, but it plays quite a small part in the economy of the United States, when viewed from the distance of Washington, as many of our people who have gone to the national capital on missions relating to this section have discovered.

SAN PEDRO HARBOR.

In discussing this question, the fact should not be lost sight of that the deep-water harbor is not a local issue, but one of national importance, in which the people of the entire country, from Maine to California, are more or less directly interested. There is probably no harbor improvement ever undertaken by the government which has been of quite so much importance to the country at large as this proposed improvement of San Pedro harbor, in connection with the improvement of Galveston harbor, which has already been accomplished This is so on account of the fact that a line between these two harbors, already covered by a railroad, is 800 miles shorter and has easier grades than any other line between the two oceans. The importance of this fact in connection with the development of the oriental trade, cannot be overestimated.

The assertion made recently by the New York World, which has evidently been selected as one of the mouthpieces of Mr. Huntington, that San Pedro has neither harbor nor commerce, is an absolute and equivocal falsehood, and is proof that the man who wrote it, or the man who ordered him to write it, is either a knave or a fool. San Pedro has been the leading port of Southern California since the days when this Coast was discovered by Cabrillo. During the past twenty-five years the government has expended a little less than one million dollars in improving the harbor, and as an evidence of what has been accomplished by that moderate expenditure, the opinion of one of the government experts may be cited, who stated in his report that he knew of no instance where so much had been done in the line of harbor improvement with so little money. There are people living in San Pedro who used to wade across the bar at low water when the government began this work, whereas now there is over fourteen feet of water on the bar at low tide. As to commerce, it is only necessary to state that during the past twenty-five years the government has received, in duties at San Pedro, a sum equal to twice the amount expended on the improvement during that period, and this in spite of the fact that vessels drawing over eighteen feet-which includes nearly all sea-going vessels-cannot enter the harbor. Another fact which should be kept clearly in view in relation to this harbor matter is that our people are only asking what the law has given They only ask that the Secretary of War shall obey the mandate of Congress. They have as yet no proof that Gen. Alger will refuse to do this, but they are anxious in regard to the delay in the call for bids, a delay which we believe to be altogether unnecessary. Gen. Alger has a perfect right to ask questions of Congress in regard to this matter, but he has no right to delay the commencement of work in the meantime. It is for executive officer of the government, to decide what shall be done in case the appropriation for the breakwater dently the best way to find out whether that amount is or is not sufficient would be to advertise for bids. Finally, the fact should be clearly inderstood by our friends and enemies in the East that the people of California are thoroughly in earnest in this matter, and that they will accept no compromise. If an attempt is to be made to deprive us of what is oursof what belongs to the nation-it will be war to the knife, and the knife to the hilt. Some people will be badly hurt, and it won't be the people who live in Southern California. This question has assumed a phase in which a great prinicple is at stake. It is no longer a question as to whether the government deep-water harbor shall be located at San Pedro, or at Santa Monica Cañon, but as to whether this is a government of the people, by the people and for the people, or a government of Collis P. Huntington and Sen ator Frye for the Southern Pacific Dispatches from St. Paul say reports from one hundred points in Western Minnesota indicate that last night's frost was the most severe in many years. Ice formed in several localities. The weather was cloudy in Northern Minnesota and North Dakota, and the result was not disastrous. In Southwestern Minnesota all the strawberry crop just coming to a berry is a complete loss.

The reports agree in saying that corn is also probably completely ruined. Flax and barley are damaged, how seriously may not be known for a week. Wheat being a much hardler plant, the frost has been a good thing for it, as it had a good chance to root firmly and spread.

I The confidence workers and sharks were following their vocation of fleecing suckers at Santa Monica Sunday As a consequence, Edward Wagner, a German, 50 years of age, is lamenting the loss of $107, all he had.

Wagner, who is staying at the Burlington House, No. 235 East Second street, visited Santa Monica Sunday afternoon. Before a half-hour had passed, he was forced to pawn his watch in order to obtain money enough to return to this city. It was the same old story. He met a pleas-

"And the phenomenal high notes; How about them?" ventured the questioner.

"Just this," was the answer, with a passing frown: "Those 'phenomenal high notes' are nothing at all phenomenal. I am not a freak, except by the foolish sensationalism of my former manaker, who went directly against my wishes in his method of advertising. I have a high soprano voice, and I have widened the range by cuitivation until I can reach notes that are unusually high. I had studied four years when I suddenly discovered that I could reach the high B flat. Then I went on, reaching the highest possible notes as my voice grew stronger and more flexible. That is all."

"I suppose you hardly like to think of another concert after your long tour," said her visitor.

The sunshine was not brighter than the smile which flitted across the lovely face of the singer as she answered quickly: "Not at all. I have the greatest pleasure in thinking of the concert I have promised for the little newsboys, and I want to make every cent of money I can for them. I hope the cards. Borrow sucker's money. Sucker broke.

Wagner was too dazed over his loss to notify the Santa Monica police at the time. He didn't know anything about the "holler" policy. So he waited until Monday, when he poured his tale of woe into the receptive ears of a Los Angeles detective. The detective diplomatically advised him to see the Santa Monica police, as the robbery was committed there.

Yesterday morning Wagner again visited Santa Monica for the purpose of having the sharks arrested. But he didn't. He saw the City Marshal, George B. Dexter, but Dexter doesn't do business that way. Wagner informed Dexter of the transaction and demanded a complaint, but this was refused, owing to Dexter's great sympathy—for the robbers. After telling Wagner that the Los Angeles police were the ones to handle his case, Dexter summarily dismissed the "sucker," who has so far obtained absolutely no satisfaction.

"Yes, this German came to me this morning," he said, "and told me that Warren King and another man had buncoed him out of $100, but I couldn't do anything about it. Why? Oh, well, the men don't live here; they live in Los Angeles, and so does Wagner. I don't see why the Los Angeles police wanted to send him down here at all. I can't follow these people around all the time. Wagner says he was only here half an hour before he was skinned, so you see that it is impossible for us to prevnt these steerers from catching suckers, as we can't watch them all the time. No, Warren ain't here today. Sunday was the first time he ever worked here.

"What about the complaint? Well, Wagner wanted a complaint sworn out, but I wouldn't do it. I don't believe in this swearing out complaints for people and then withdrawing them.

this swearing out complaints for peo-ple, and then withdrawing them as soon can," he finally exclaimed, desperately.

A Mr. Blythe of Salt Lake was another victim of the confidence gang at Santa Monica last Sunday, although less unfortunate than Wagner. After becoming involved in the game to the extent of $10, Mr. Blythe became susplicious that all was not right, and refused to bet further. He lost the $10, but his timely suspicion saved a large sum which he had on his person at that time.

King Warren was in Santa Monica on Sunday, but he was drinking heav-ily and did not attend to any "busi-ness." Poker Davis was there, too, ness." Poker Davis was there, too, and so were his steerers and grafters, and it is not known to anybody outside of certain official circles which gang did the work. It was out yesterday that King Warren was to be "roasted" in the papers, but as King was not in the play, he has no "roast" coming this time. Dexter doubtless is right in his surmise that somebody told Wagner that King was the man who robbed him, and that same somebody has reasons for shifting the blame to King.

Santa Monica is well provided with gambling facilities this year. Faro, roulette and other games are running "wide open" in violation of law and with the consent and connivance of the authorities. These are supposed to be "square" games in which nobody is robbed. But Poker Davis infests the town, and he and his sort of thieves are "doing the best they can" under the usual official protection.

She looked at home in the quaint old garden, the fittest setting in the world for dainty Ellen Yaw. The sunshine rippled through the leaves and touched the curly head with living gold, as she pulled toward her an armful of blush roses and burled her fair face in the mass of scented blossoms. Then she called "Keats, Keats," and an enormous Great Dane hound, with a coat like gray stain, came crashing through the rose bushes, so crazy with delight at being invited to join the party, that his mistress's ravishing Paris gown of crement danger of being torn to rags by the powerful paws. It was a work of time to subdue Keats into decorum, but he finally qualled before a small, leafy twig which his lady brandished with an heroic attempt at sternness, and went to classing butterfiles insitated of blue silk friils.

Miss Yaw sauntered on, pulling a flower here and there, stirring was here stirring was a flower here and there, stirring was here added, with a pretty with a pint to subdue the ducked the spirit of the leaves, the song of the sunty fit all words could not express the bandy of the shimmer of the sunty fit all words could not express the bandy of express the sunty is the shimmer of the sunty fit all words could not express the saudt of express the bandy of the fountain, the rustle of the leaves, the song of the sunty flower in the delicate little throat. Miss Yaw sauntered on, pulling a flower here and there, stirring up the goldfish in the tiny pond, turning a faucet, which sent the glittering spray of a fountain high into the air to fail with a musical patter over a mound of Madeira vines, and calling to the mockingbird, who was expressing his views in liquid trills from the top of a magnolia tree.

"He knows more about singing than all the schools," she said, craning her pretty neck to catch a glimpse of the bird. 'Listen to the roundness of that mezzo tone. He is incarnate song."

"You do not believe in artificial methods, then? asked her visitor.

"Indeed I do not. Of course there must be study of the best methods and an infinite amount of work before the best is brought out that lies in a human singer's throat, but the more closely we follow the method of nature, producing our tone just as that bird produces his, the better the result. "Yes, but there lies the difficulty," answered the listener. "How do you get control of the breathing?"
"Why, by making no effort at all," said Miss Yaw, as serenely as though song power like hers were the common heritage of the human race. "Of course you have to know Just how to breathe, and generally you have to unlearn the method taught by teachers who believe that a full tone can be produced only from full lungs. All that is necessary is to breathe naturally, as you would at any time, and let the breath flow easily through the vocal chords. It is all based on the very simplest principles, but you have to know your own voice and to depend on yourself for what no teacher can give you."

"I have always held that we are after a moment's hesitation. "The music lies all in the strings, which tuthe vocal chords. All we have to do is the vocal chords. All we have to do is to gain perfect control of the breath which plays on those strings as a violinist strives to perfect his bowing. If the breath which causes the vibration of these delicate strings is not properly directed and controlled, the result is either faint and colorless, or harsh and unmusical like the scraping of the bow. The whole principle upon which the violin is made is so like that of the human throat that it is impossible not to see the analogy. Now listen"—and the delicate lips parted to

It was delicious. She was at once the mocking bird and the human violin, and, better than all, the sweet, unspolled woman who carries in her voice and in her nature the warmth of the southern sunshine she loves so well.

MID-AIR PHOTOGRAPHY. periment with Two Cameras. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 1.-William NEW YORK, June 1.—William A. Eddy has just taken the first double photograph in mid-air that has ever been secured. He did this with special apparatus, after a year's study. By his invention it will be possible to take from mid-air a perfect photograph of the entire horizon line. With such an apparatus, Eddy claims that a photograph can be taken at sea which will show a ship approching when it is ten miles beyond the horizon line, as seen from a ship's deck.

The inventor is confident his system can be used to great advantage during war. The photographs today were taken with two cameras, but it proposed to arrange this so that they will photograph the whole horizon at once.

It is supposed to come from the mountains near the source of Lytle Creek, above San Bernardino. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

A Strange Black Lily with Poisonous Attributes.

In a tall jar at the Chamber of Commerce stands a great bunch of tropical foliage, and in the midst of the leaves rise two huge black lilles, one of them measuring eighteen inches from end to end, and ten inches across. They are the blossoms of the Dracunculus, a seldom-seen plant. The flowers have a heavy, fetid odor, which is said to be poisonous, but to possess an irresistible fascination for insects. It was donated by W. Whithehead of this city. J. S. MAKING RAW SILK.

GIUSEPPE SORMANO'S WORK ALONG A NOVEL LINE.

The Life and Death of the Silk Worm—Removing the Delicate Fibers from the Cocoons—The School Children are Interested.

Silk is being made in Los Angeles. Giuseppe Sormano, with hatchet and jack-knife, has carved for himself a jack-knile, has carved for himself a silk-weaving machine. A year ago he brought back with him from a visit to Italy a stock of silk-worm eggs. The eggs hatched, the larve grew fat on the leaves which he fed them. the leaves which he fed them from his mulberry tree, and very sleepy and tired the worms crawled up into the bunches of twigs placed conveniently at hand, spun for themselves silken coverlets, and went fast to sleep. They visit to his old home, Sormano bas been conducting some very interesting experiments.

In the rear of Giuseppe Sormano's winery, at No. 547 Macy street, is the long, low, one-storied house, partly of adobe, partly of brick, in which his family lives. In one big airy room at the end of the dwelling, its floor almost flush with the ground outside, the work of removing the silk was going on yesterday.

Only a few worms were raised this year, just to see how the thing would go so the supply of cocoons was small. A kettle of hot water was made ready. A quantity of the downy white cocoons was placed in a pan. Very hot water was pade ready and quantity of the downy white cocoons was placed in a pan. Very hot water was pade ready. A quantity of the downy white cocoons was placed in a pan. Very hot water was poured over them, to kill the still living creatures inside, midway in their transformation from larvae to moth. The cocoons were stirred round and round in the water, with a bunch of straws.

The spinning machine was of crude construction, put together by Sormano without a penny of expense, most of it whittled out with a jack-knife. A series of empty wooden spools, revolving on nails driven into the supports of the frame, acted as cylinders over which the thread could be drawn. A revolving four-sided reel, run by a boy with a crank, was the frame on which the silk was wound, to be taken off eventually and bound into twisted with a crank, was the frame on which the silk was wound, to be taken off eventually and bound into twisted skeins.

Once the worms were all dead within their cocoons, and the silk well softened by the water, a filmy thread so small as to be almost invisible was fastened to the receiving frame, winding over the spools, the machine was set in motion, and, as the cocoon from which the silk came bobbed around in the water, the thread was wound on the receiving frame. In order to give the strands the requisite thickness, threads from four or five cocoons at once were twisted off, and as one cocoon. was nearly exhausted, with a defit touch of her finger, the operator twisted in a thread from another cocoon.

The cocoons must be taken in time, before the imprisoned moth tries to bite its way out. If the cocoon is punctured, the water gets inside, the cocoon becomes waterlogged, and it is impossible to get the silk off.

The raw silk obtained by the method used by Sormano and his family must go through several processes before it can be spun into good silk thread and woven into cloth.

go through several processes before it can be spun into good silk thread and woven into cloth.

Guiseppe Sormano and hisfamily have so far undertaken the task only as an experiment, and because of the memories it brings back to the old country. Next year a larger number of worms will be raised, and it may be that the experiment will in the future develop into something of importance. In a number of the schools of the city the children are studying the habits of the silkworm. A few days ago Miss Sormano took some of the cocoons to a teacher in one of the public schools. At the teacher's request, she went into one of the classrooms and explained to the children the life and habits of the valuable little insects. It ended by every room in the building demanding that the story be repeated for its benefit. Some of the cocoons were sent to the Normal School by Miss Sormano and there they are being watched and the bursting forth of the moth from the cocoon awaited with anxious interest.

The eastern papers have been devoting much attention to the Standardoil Company, in connection with a change in the form of this trust, which it is said is to be changed to that of an ordinary corporation. The Standard Oil Company was originally incorporated in 1870, its leading spirit then, as rated in 1870, its leading spirit then, as now, being John D. Rockefeller. In the last-mentioned year the trust was formed, which, as above stated is now, it is believed, to be changed to an ordinary corporation. The capital of the Standard Oil Trust now reaches the enormous amount of $97,000,000. To show how fast profits are made by this concern, it is only necessary to this concern, it is only necessary to draw attention to the fact that a quarper cent. last March, while in 1896 the aggregate of dividends amounted to no less than 31 per cent. It is believed that the total dividends for the current year may go to 40 per cent.

It is no wonder that $100 shares of the Standard Oil Company (which are not listed on the New York exchange) have been selling as high as $320.

It is estimated that 18,000 tons of fruit still remain in Greece unsold. This does not include the government retention of 15 per cent. of all exports which must be disposed of in Greece, and consequently goes to the local distillers, and is made into wine and cognac.

Germany has taken large quantities of currants this season for wine-making. In 1895 heavy shipments were made to France, to be consumed in a like manner, but the high duty which she has recently imposed on this article greatly decreased shipments to her ports during 1896.

The import duties on currants in the various countries are as follows:

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

STATE MINING BUREAU CRITI CISED. The Mining and Electrica Review published last week an editoria assailing the State Mining Bureau, claiming that in the last annual report there is either evidence of a lack of judgment on the part of the compilers, or a deliberate combination to promote private interest in the expense of the State. The Review says:

"No same business man will suppose for a mement that certain so-called mines, some of them mere prospects, would be written up and even "puffed with half-tone illustrations unless somebody had paid for the advertising." the State Mining somebody had paid for the advertising."

It was added that the mines which have received extended notices and illustrations in the report are, with few exceptions, for sale.

In reply to this editorial, W. S. Keyes, vice-president of the State Mining Bureau, wrote to the editor of the Review, asking him to point out any puffed-up reviews of any mining claim, and he would see that any responsible employes should at once be discharged. To this letter the editor of the Review replied that no specific charges were made, but referred by name to several mines, including one in the Randsburg district, which are described in the report, and which the editor of the Review claims are poor properties.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 1.—During the cessation of trading in the Stock Exchange yesterday London dealt heavily in American railroad stocks and brought up the price of all those which are internationally listed to a roint materially above New York's close Saturday. Promptly upon the opening of the market here this morning large orders to buy for London account were executed to cover sales made in London at the advance. The consequence was a jump at the opening to London parity for nearly all the internationals. London reports indicated that the traders there laid much stress upon the speech of Secretary of the Treasury Gage, and the optimistic opinion of the business outlook. Some reaction followed upon this early jump in prices, the depression spreading sympathetically from 1 to 2 cents. The market fell into duliness at the decline, sugar showing a loss on Washington reports of danger to the sugar schedule of the Tariff Bill. This failed to hold the market from a rising tendency, and closing prices were as a rule the best of the day. Buying by the commission houses was on quite a large scale, and the outside interest in the market was more in evidence than for many months past. The dealings were remarkably well distributed, and the speculative low-priced stocks, especially those of reorganized companics, were in special demand. Union Pacific leading in the activity of this class of securities, with sales of over eleven thousand shares. The demand from London or this line of stocks was particularly marked. The number of shares bought for London account was estimated to exceed twenty thousand shares. The demand from London or this new forces and the ordered twenty thousand shares. The increase in the net earnings for April helped to are strengthen the market or Denver and Rio Grande and Southern Pacific, all showing substantial gains. The total sales of stocks approximated 259,000 shares. Some stocks escaped entirely the early reactionary tendency of the market, and on othe Shares and Money.

GENERAL EASTERN MARKETS. Grain and Produce.

GRAIN and Produce.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

CHICAGO, June I.—Wheat was weak at the opening in consequence of the pilling up of the receipts since Saturday morning and the weakness of the Liverpool market. The latter was the most potent of the opening factors, and although dry weather and sharp frosts have been the characteristics of the cilmatic conditions since Saturday, they hal little effect in staying the hand of the short soiler. July wheat, which closed Saturday at 68%, opened today at 67%667%, and after a temporary recovery to 68%6768%, it started on a decline which by 12 o'clock had carried the open decline was all the effect the reports of frost had on the market, it being said that little or no damage would result from it. Liverpool was 1½d lower at the opening than it closed Saturday. Foreigners were said to have been sellers of December wheat in New York. Wheat for passage decreased 1,440,000 bushels. European stocks, according to Beerbohm's, decreased 548,000 last week. The English visible decreased 683,000. The world's shipments for the week were 5,570,000. The domestic visible showed a decrease of 1,239,000, against 503,000 bushels decrease for the corresponding week of the year before. This was a disappointment, as the traders expected a decrease of at least 1,150,000 bushels. Chicago receipts were 240 cars of wheat and 161,700 bushels were inspected out of store. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 1097 cars received since Saturday, against 163 for the similar days of the week before, and 1485 ars the like days of last year. The poor cash demand resulted in a total loss of premiums here, June selling at July prices, but this was a factor in the liquidation, which was general and steady all the morning. During the last bours shorts covered to a certain extent, their efforts causing a reaction to 67%. The altest trading was at 67667% bid. Corn was strong and active compared with the usual dullness of the market. Oats were firm, helped by a large cash demand, by good clearances and by frest repor on June 15—Improvements Will Be Rapidly Pushed — Routine Business Transacted by Council. Oratorio Society Elects Officers.

A NEW PRESIDENT FOR THE ELEC-

PASADENA, June 1 .- [Regular Correspondence.] The plans of the Reor-ganization Committee of the Pasadena and Los Angeles Electric Railway Com-pany are fast being carried out. An-other great step forward will be accom-plished on June 15, when Col. C. W. Smith will arrive from Chicago to as-sume the presidency and general man-argement of the road. A dispatch reagement of the road. A dispatch re-ceived by P. M. Green this afternoon from D. B. Dewy announced that Col. Smith had consented to accept the po-sition and enter upon its duties at the

When the reorganization of the road was first undertaken it was recognized that the company should have at its was first undertaken it was recognized that the company should have at its head an experienced railroad man, thoroughly familiar with all the details of operation and construction. It was the unanimous feeling of the Reorganization Committee that no better man could be secured than Col. C. W. Smith, but it was uncertain whether he could be induced to accept the position. The final adjustment of the affairs of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, of which Col. Smith has been receiver, paved the way to the arrangement that has now been consummated. Col. Smith has been engaged in railroad work for more than thirty years, and there is no department of it with which he is not thoroughly familiar. His reputation among railroad men is national. As president of the Pasadena and Los Angeles Electric Railway, he will probably make his home in Pasadena.

P. M. Green, who was elected president of the road a few weeks ago, accepted the position temporarily, with the understanding that he should be relieved in the near future. He expresses great satisfaction that Col. Smith has consented to take charge of the road and says that it means the immediate prosecution of the contemplated improvements. The work will be pushed as rapidly as possible and no effort will be spared to improve the service.

A cargo of ties is now on the way from the north and is expected within a week. As soon as it arrives track-laying will begin. The company will use the lot which it owns on Chestnut street for switching purposes, so as to avoid the necessity of keeping cars standing in the street. Tracks are now being laid for this purpose from the street into the lot.

THE COUNCIL MEETING.

THE COUNCIL MEETING.

THE COUNCIL MEETING.

It was a thin house that greeted the Council this afternoon. With the subsidence of the street-railway controversy the public has ceased to take any interest in the doings of the city fathers. The crowd that has of late thronged the lobby and dwindled today to a single individual. The session was marked by unwonted peace. The promised coup of the Terminal road failed to materialize, and the orators who have been heard so often by a long suffering public, were absent.

Only routine business was transacted today. In accordance with the recom-Only routine business was transacted today. In accordance with the recommendations of the City Attorney, Col. G. Green's petition for the vacation of an alley on the site of the annex to Hotel Green was granted; the report of the commissioners on the widening of Lake avenue was accepted, with a vote of thanks for their services, and a resolution of intention was adopted for the construction of a sidewalk on South Fair Oaks avenue, in front of lot 11 of Wood & Banbury's subdivision.

Ordinances were adopted, establishing grades of Wichita avenue, between Mendocino and Filimore streets; Eastern avenue, between Mendocino and Wallis streets; Huribut street, between Fair Oaks and Pasadena avenues; Moline avenue, between California and Glenarm streets; Mentor avenue, between Delmar and Colorado streets; Liberty street, Howard street, between Vernon avenue and Terrace Drive; Color avenue and Terrace Drive: Oal street, Madison avenue, between Cali-fornia and Fillmore streets; Mendocino

In pursuance of the Council decider
Marchal Lacey, the Council decider of Marshal Lacey, the Council decided not to appoint a successor to the position of night watchman, made vacant by the death of the late James Orr. Marshal Lacey recommended that instead of contributing $25 a month toward the salary of a private night watchman the city should employ another police officer.

An estimate was received from the Electric Supply and Fixture Company for putting in electric wires and for putting in electric wires and lamps in the City Hall and the fire engine house. The bid amounted to $108 and was referred to the Committee on Public Buildings. This work will be necessary in order to take advantage of the offer of the electric road to light the city's public buildings.

ORATORIO SOCIETY ELECTS OF-FICERS

FICERS.

The annual meeting of the Oratorio Society was held this afternoon at the rooms of the Board of Trade. The most important business transacted was the election of officers for the coming year. William Stanton declined a re-election as president, expecting to be absent during a part of next winter, and C. J. Willett was elected to succeed him. B. O. Kendall was elected first vice-president, F. S. Wallace secretary and P. M. Green. These officers together with S. D. Carey, H. R. Hertel and Dr. Norman Bridge will constitute the Board of Directors. The report of the secretary was read, reviewing the work of the past year and suggesting some features of the coming season. Of this three concerts to be given next winter, the first will be presented not earlier than December I. Before that lime it is hoped that the membership will have increased to at least one hundred and fifty. At present there are 81 members, a gain of eighteen since the last concert given by the society. Members not only have the satisfaction of assisting in the admirable work of the society but they also reap a subsantial benefit in that they have the privilege of purchsing tickets to the concerts at reduced rates.

The Oratorio Society has been ably seconded in its work by the Woman's Orchestra of Pasadena.

BOARD OF TRADE DIRECTORS.

The monthly meeting of the Board of Trade directors was held this morning. The Reception Committee presented its report upon the recent visit of the Order of Railway Conductors. The success of the entertainment afforded to the visitors was chiefly due to the heary cooperation afforded by the citizens of Pasadena. The committee expressed the belief that the efforts thus made would result in substantial benefit to the city.

Some time was devoted to the discussion of the forthcoming souvenir book of Pasadena. The views thus far taken have proved most satisfactory and it is believed that the book will be superior to any hitherto published here. The contract was signed today for 3000 copies of the book, with the option of increasing the number later.

fodjeska Selects Her Company for Opening the New Operahouse. Supervisors Take Action on Jail Claims-A "Sucker's" Birthplace Monday Club Banquet.

SANTA ANA. June 1 .- [Regular Correspondence.] The greatest theatrical event in the history of Santa Ana will be the opening of Huttenlocher's elegant new operahouse in this city by pany of her own choice in the grand old play, "Mary Stuart," June 18. Mme. Modjeska and her husband, Count Bozenta, departed this afternoon for their home in Santiago Cañon, hav-ing been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Yoch since Saturday. Modjeska looks the picture of health, and her fresh appearance is a pleasing evidence that she has recovered her old-time vigor. Last Saturday she made her selctions for the company which is to support her. Prominent among the cast may be mentioned at this time Miss Gertrude Foster, who will be the chief lady supporter to the great actress; Mrs. Gleason, a well-known elocutionist of this city and teacher in the High School; Clyde Bishop, a Santa Ana boy, who is home on a vacation from a theatrical tour; Carl Kendall and Merrill Rice of Tustin; Charles Rogers, H. A. Dickell and Miss Langenberger of Anaheim. The first rehearsal was held Monday evening until after 11 o'clock, and Mme. Modjeska was greatly pleased with the excellent work accomplished. The directing of a first rehearsal may be considered hard work, but the great actress showed no sign of exhaustion. The next rehearsal will be held on Friday evening of this week, at the operahouse. Coupled with the play of the evening will be a grand concert under the direction of G. Abram Smith. The event will be for the benefit of charity or of some public enterprise, the object not yet being determined upon.

The following motion by Superviser Armor was carried: "In obedience to the mandate of the Superior Court, I move that the demand of the Hall Safe and Lock Company for $4089, for work and material on the County Jail be denied, for the reason that the contractors, Hulteen & Bergstrom, have served notice on this board to withhold certain portions of said sum as due them from said company, and for the further reason that a suit is now pending in the Superior Court to determine the rights of the several parties in interest to their priportionate parts of said claim."

On a further motion by Supervisor Armor, the board rejected the claims of all claimants on the jail for the reason that the sum of all the claims presented for payment out of the contract price of the building is largely in excess of said contract price, and a suit is now pending in the Superior Court to determine the rights of the several parties in interest and how much, if any, is due each out of said contract price, "

The town numbers close to a thousand people, and there are many good reasons advanced for taking a step into cityhood. One of the principal reasons is the desirability of getting in a position to properly care for the streets. The inability to get funds for the completion of the work already begun from the county is advanced as showing the desirability of incorporation. Another point of equal imporsnowing the desirability of incorpora-tion. Another point of equal impor-tance is the need of greater facilities for distributing domestic water. While the sur-piv of water far exceeds the re-quirements of the town, it is impossible to distribute it, owing to the inefficiency of the pine line.

Monday's Election Resulted Against Issuance of Water Bonds.

ONTARIO, June 1.—[Regular Correspondence.] The election held Monday to determine on the issuance of $15,000 bonds for the purchase of an additional supply of water for domestic use, resulted in an adverse vote of 40 in favor suited in an adverse vote of 40 in favor of bonds and 45 against. The supply of water for domestic purposes is very short, consisting of sixteen shares in the San Antonio Water Company, which are nominally for an inch of water for each share, but which are in water for each share, but which are in reality a claim for a just proportion of all water which the company may have. The recent purchase of water by the company and the possibility of developing water on land recently acquired are certain to give the city an increased supply for domestic purposes, though there is no prospect of having an immediate supply as great as could be boxed for.

Hot Supervisoral Election-Elec trie Cars Running. SANTA BARBARA, June 1.-[Regu-

Shields,) stating that the Governor had reappointed Eduardo de la Cuesta as Supervisor to succeed himself, and to continue in office until the next general election in 1898. The talk during the day among Cuesta's friends was to the effect that if Glass (Rep.) was elected, Cuesta would resign, but if Nelson (Pop.) was the successful candidate he (Cuesta) would hold the office out of pure spite for the men who downed him at the polis last fall. There was a third candidate in the field, Mr. McCurd, a Democrat of Los Olivas, who didn't seem to be in the fight at all, but having nothing else to do he was apparently running just to see how it would seem.

This has been one of the bitterest contests ever recorded in the county, and the end is not yet. The gerrymandering act in Hope Precinct last year was the signal for a fight that has grown hotter and bigger every day, and the Governor added explosive fuel by his first appointment, while the second is taken as a rubbed-in insult.

Yesterday's Fires.

The alarm from box No. 91 at 3 o'clock p.m. yesterday was for a fire in a shed back of the residence of M. Martz. at No. 600 West Pico street. The structure was almost completely destroyed, the loss amounting to about $100.

At 4:15 p.m. a telephone call was sent in for a slight blaze in the residence of A. P. McGinnis at No. 207 South Bon-nie Brae street. The fire started in a mattress in one of the sleeping rooms, and was extinguished by Mrs. McGin-nis before the engines reached the scene.

RUMOR THAT SOME OF THEM CON

was current on the street esterday of a movement being on oot looking to the consolidation ercial banks of this Farmers' and Merchants' bank, when asked what he knew about it, disclaimed any knowledge of any pro-posed consolidation of banking inter-ests here, "but," added he, "if there is any such movement among the smaller commercial banks of the city it would meet with general approval. "We have" he said, "eighteen commercial and savings banks at the present time in Los Angeles. This number is far beyond the requirements of business in a city of this size; and the only reason we have so many of them. is that there is an immense amount of capital here which cannot obtain le-gitlmate investment in any other way."

Mr. Fleishman then quoted figures from the last clearing-house report, as follows: Capital of the eight clearing-house banks, $2,700,000; surplus from the last clearing-house report, as follows: Capital of the eight clearing-house banks, $2,700,000; surplus and undivided profits on April 1, 1897, $1, 305,877; total deposits, $8,235,084.96; available cash on hand in those banks on April 1, 1897, $3,947,003.22 "By this you will see," he continued, "that the available cash was nearly 50 per cent. of the total deposits. You will further observe that the figures I have here given you are only those of the eight clearing-house banks and do not include the available cash in the other two commercial banks and in the eight savings banks in this city. The bankers and bank stockholders of New York City were the first to discover that the interests of themselves and of their customers would be better served by a consolidation between some of them. The National City Bank and the Third National Bank of New York City were among the first to start the—consolidation ball rolling. The example they set has been followed by others, and on last Saturday I received a paper from Kansas City announcing the consolidation in that city of the Metropolitan National Bank and of the National Bank of Commerce. Both of those Kansas City banks are strong concerns; in fact their combined assets, as shown by a report issued May It last, amounted to nearly ten and one-half million dollars. They realized, however, that the result of consolidation would be to reduce experses, while at the same time knowing—at be to reduce expenses, while at the same time knowing at the larger the bank the better its fa-cilties for accommodating its customcilties for accommodating its custom-ers and the greater the safety of its depositors."

"History repeats itself." The exciting scenes of last week are being acted over again. Yesterday was one of the very largest days of the sale. The mountains of Sheward Insolvent Goods brought forward from the basement melted away like snows under a California sun. Again the rapid movement of merchandise baffles the advertiser, and quoting anything like a correct price list for the day is out of the question. Each hour has its victories and bargains. As fast as one lot of the Sheward goods is sold another equally interesting lot is moved up to take it's place-and thus the shifting scenes offer the widest possible range for the shopper who
